★ A NOTE FROM MARK AND LAURA ★

It was great seeing everyone at the Camp Reunion this year. By all accounts, it was clear we had our best turnout ever, having people travel far and wide to get there and be together, as well as a few surprise guest staff members who couldn't stay away to see everyone from as far away as Australia. We always ask ourselves.....how great it is to be able to experience all the "camp energy" again?...so many of us together again in one place just having a great time, and reliving the memories and re-kindling the bonds and friendships that exist "only at camp". There is nothing like the spirit and energy the Iroquois Springs gang can create....it truly is contagious. We are all so lucky! Somehow the "magic" we create together carries us all throughout the entire year, and keep us all connected in such a special and unique way.

One of the other things that is so terrific about the camp reunion is that it marks a time of the year when we can all start to think that "summer can't be too far off now" - it is nice knowing that camp is THIS year – 2017! Before we know it, we will all be together as the buses roll up Bowers Road for summer '17.

In our house, even after all these years, we could hardly sleep the night before the reunion, and the excitement the morning while driving to New Rochelle was overwhelming. That amazing feeling that even for just a few hours of being together and how that "camp feeling" rushes right back into your body.

As we look around and watch everyone re-connect, the feeling is infectious. Iroquois Springs has become an amazing community of campers and staff who respect and care about one another and look forward to returning to Rock Hill each summer more than almost anything else. Our reputation of taking great care of our campers and providing an incredible experience with our mature, well-trained staff has been unsurpassed. This is no small feat, and it happened because we have the most wonderful camp families and staff members out there, who believe in what Iroquois Springs is all about – Thank you!

Most importantly, camp is about the people, and we are so proud of our campers, who have grown in so many other ways, they are more self-confident, they are better friends, or better siblings or better children, and they are better people because the camp experience helps them to develop themselves and take risks in a warm, supportive, caring environment with staff that is there for their challenges and triumphs. What an amazing sixteen years it has been and we cannot wait for the next 20 to see where it all goes! Thanks for being a part of it!

Let the countdown begin - SUMMER '17 will be here before we know it!

With Love, Mark & Laura

BOYS SIDE STUFF WITH JOSH

Who can believe that it is the middle of the winter already? We have been out of camp for almost six-months and if you think about it - we are closer to the start of summer 2017 than the end of summer 2016. I know that we are all wearing winter jackets and sweaters while heading to school in the morning but they will soon be replaced by shorts and a t-shirt while walking to the dining hall for breakfast. Your snow skis and snowboards will be replaced by water skis and wakeboards.

Everyone looked fantastic at the reunion and it is always a highlight of the year for me. Seeing everyone get back together for even a few short hours always puts a smile on my face. I was impressed by the number of campers who were telling me about their volunteer opportunities and how they were giving back to their communities. We often speak at line-up that our camp community extends past Iroquois Springs and it is our duty to help where and when we can. From what it sounds like there were many soup kitchens, food pantries, hospitals and schools that benefited from your volunteer efforts. Camp is certainly about having fun and making friends, but the fact that many of you are taking the values that we talk about daily at line-up and incorporating them into your own lives makes me one happy Head Counselor.

I am looking forward to meeting all of our first-time campers and reuniting with our returning ones this summer. Enjoy all that this New Year will bring you and don't forget to always stay positive and polite. Please remember and appreciate the fact that Iroquois Springs is where we go over the summer but realize Iroquois Springs is something that we feel and live by every day.

See you in the summer or somewhere before, the familiar faces. It seemed like I have been waiting for this moment forever. I was ready for the scent of sunscreen and the feel of chlorine. "Thank you mom and dad," I thought to myself, "I will write you guys as much as I can, I promise."

As I stepped down off the bus, there was a huge smile on my face from cheek to cheek. My worries all began to fade. I couldn't think of anything else, but that I was here. I saw the camp directors and immediately said "hi." It was amazing to see the grounds of camp again. The air was clear and bright, it seemed perfect. I knew it was going to be the best summer of my life.

Then I saw the faces I've been waiting to see forever. It was my camp friends! It was crazy how much I missed them. I couldn't stop smiling. I ran like a cheetah to go get them. It felt so amazing to step into my camp friends arms. Their hugs were as heartwarming as a baby's first steps. "Yayyyy." We all screamed, "we're here and ready for a great summer!"

If anyone has anything that they would like to share, feel free to send it to me at rosie@iroquoissprings.com.

Nothing makes me happier than to know that camp has changed you as much as it has changed me. Wishing everyone an awesome couple of weeks. Stay warm, Be nice and SMILE!!!!!!!

Love, Rosie

GIRLS SIDE GAB With Rosie

Happy New Year - Hoping everyone had a great holiday season - I love seeing all the IS meet up pictures both from counselors and campers. There is truly nothing like your camp friends. I am wishing each and everyone one of you a happy and healthy 2017 - Hoping this year brings you nothing but smiles and laughter. In just a few more months we will all be together again - In my house we are already counting the days.

It was great seeing everyone at the camp reunion - I loved hearing all about what's happening in your lives and how excited you are for this upcoming summer. I met so many of your siblings that will be joining us on Girls Side this year - I cannot wait for them to be a part of the best place on earth.

We are officially in camp mode here on Girls Side - We recently had our first winter leadership meeting and the planning is well underway! I am so excited to start talking about the campers and counselors that are enrolled for 2017, what new activities we will be doing this summer, the new fitness center, color war and more.....

Every year I get essays, letters and emails that so many of you have written about camp and your camp experience. It makes me so happy to see that you are thinking about camp all year long - I hope that when you think about camp - it reminds you how awesome we are on Girl's Side - How nice we are to each other - not just during the summer but all year-round. When I describe the vibe on Girls Side, the first words that come to mind are WE ARE NICE GIRLS.

Below is an essay from a true camper - Thank you Izzy for sharing this with me last year. I kept it because it made me smile....THANK YOU!

Screechhh! The bus came to a sudden stop. My brain was rushing with crazy excitement! I was finally at my second home, Iroquois Springs. It was one of my favorite places on Earth. I was as happy as if I got a gold medal in the Olympics. My friend and I just wanted to jump out the window and see all

There is nothing better than having the chance to get together over the winter with campers, staff, parents and friends to spend some time reminiscing about camp and getting excited for the summer ahead! Our winter reunion did not disappoint, many families traveled for hours to have the chance to re-connect as a camp community and spend some time together with camp friends who truly live 10 for 2!

This time of year, there is always chatter amongst our Iroquois Springs camp family about which staff will be back in camp next summer, and I can't fault anyone for that. As camp directors, we know what a difference fantastic staff has on the outcome of a summer for our campers and we rely on our veteran staff to continue to build on the foundation that has made Iroquois Springs what it is today.

As we begin another countdown to our summer together in Rock Hill, we wanted to share with you a list of staff who can't wait to get back to the 12775 and have already replied YES to returning to camp this summer...a question at the top of so many of your minds.

COUNSELOR'S CORNER

THANK YOU:
From a Counselor to You

I remember when I first got the opportunity to work at Iroquois Springs as a camp counselor nearly three years ago. I was nervous because I had just changed my major in college to education. I was discovering who I was as a person. I was lost and trying to find my own path that I wanted to follow. I was always doing what others wanted me to do, and during this time I was taking that step into doing what I would want to do. I knew that whatever I ended up doing had to include one thing: working with children.

When I first arrived at Iroquois Springs, I didn't know what to expect at all. All I knew was that I couldn't wait to meet my campers and experience being a counselor. I was shy, timid, and always asked questions before I did anything I was unsure of. I wasn't the most outgoing in front of people I didn't know, and I didn't act like myself because that's what I was used to. After that summer with my B2 boys back in 2014, I was a completely different person. I was no longer shy, I became more confident in who I was, I was willing to talk to everyone, and it confirmed my sense of purpose to become an educator and work with children. As the summers went on, I found myself developing more as the person I've always wanted to be and strengthening my passion for working with children. All of this was because of my campers.

I have been in the freshman division for three straight years; having B2 in 2014 and B1 in 2015 and 2016. These boys have made a bigger impact on me than I think they know. They are the ones who helped me break out of my shell and discover myself. They are the ones who have shown me trust, compassion, happiness, and motivation. They have shown me that there is nothing that I love more than working and caring for children. They are part of the reason why I think camp has become such a huge part of my life. I've never loved a job more, never been more excited to work with co-workers, and never cared for children more than working at camp.

When these boys express their gratitude and love for you, they are genuine about it. Those little moments where you connect with them are the greatest moments of camp, ones that counselors and campers alike remember forever. I even remember my most vivid memory of a camper, and it's something that I always think about to this day. This camper was struggling with being away from his parents and was taking it hard. I knew how it felt, as I used to be away from my family from long periods of time too as a child. I would talk with him constantly, walk him around camp, and just do my best to cheer him up and let him know I was there to comfort and help him. Those walks were memories that I always keep in my thoughts, because he showed me that I was capable of helping children, and that I was genuinely happy to be there for this child.

He was only a three-week camper his first year, but at the beginning of color war, I got a "Postagram" in the mail. I was confused because I knew no one in my family knows about "Postagram", and I was wondering who it was. Turns out, this camper took the time when he was back home to write one and send it to my bunk at home. I still have it, as it is posted on the wall of my desk, right in the center. He wrote "Hi Matt! How is camp? Are you excited for color war? Have a great time. Thank you for everything." That last line, thank you for everything, actually made me cry. I'm an emotional guy, but that's not the reason I cried. To know that I made a huge impact on this camper, and he actually took the time to let me know how much it mattered to him, is something I will remember forever. This camper has had the biggest impact on me and has given me the motivation to continue working with children. If you are reading this, I just want to say, thank you for everything!

I feel like counselors get a lot of thanks for taking care of all the campers who come to Iroquois Springs, but I feel like we don't thank the parents and campers enough. They make the decision to leave these children in our care, and I think we learn from them and enjoy it just as much as the families do. I want to say to all of the parents of these campers that I thank you for giving us the opportunity to grow as people and learn from your children. It's an experience I think none of us will ever forget or take for granted.

To all my boys that I have had the past 3 years, I just want to say that you guys have influenced me in the most positive way I can think of. We've laughed, cried, gotten scared, gotten angry, and have experienced many things together. I want to thank all of you as well, for being amazing kids, and for making me a better person. I hope you all have a good school year, and I hope to see you back at camp next year!

Thank you

YVE

Yve, THANK YOU for being the unsung hero and taking such great care of our youngest male campers each and every summer. From sorting the laundry, finding lost items, changing sheets, reading stories, escorting kids to a doctors appointment or anything in between, you were always there! Your willingness to get the job done and never look to be in the spotlight was never unnoticed. Yve, you truly define what an outstanding camp staff member embodies and we will always be indebted to you. Your shoes will be hard to fill and we know this is not goodbye, just so long for now, as you will always be part of the Iroquois Springs family!

To My Dear Summer Boys,

I write today with a heavy heart. Many of you know that I have been with Iroquois Springs since it began and have happily raised my own four children there. Next summer, for the first time, none of my children will be at camp so it is with mixed emotions that I have decided to retire.

Some of you called me Mom, some Yve, but for the time you were in Rock Hill, you were all my children and it's been a pleasure seeing you grow up whether in three short weeks or over the years. I watched you proudly when you conducted yourselves with outstanding sportsmanship on the fields during inter-camp games. I applauded you when you got up on water skis, at the skate park or across the zip-line, and also when you failed then bravely tried again. I kvelled at your achievements on stage whether the play, mock rock, the talent show or your incredible musical talent. I was thrilled to see how quickly you adjusted to letter writing vs. typing; really appreciated when you toned down your "music" and language when I was around; and was amazed at some of your cleaning and folding skill improvements by week six!. Thank you for always showing me respect and for making me feel loved the way I loved you. Thank you for trusting me to not get sunblock in your eyes; for listening when I told you to go drink water, put on a clean shirt or comb your hair; for including me in your highs and lows, late night riddles sessions and for asking my advice. And thank you so much for all the awesome hugs. The time I spent on Boys Side was extraordinary in more ways than I can describe and each and every one of you helped make it that way. You made me love my role in camp and you've given me some of my favorite and greatest summer memories - which I will cherish.

You all go to camp so you understand it's magical, but still, I'll leave you with some motherly camp advice. Each summer, surround yourselves with that inexplicable awesomeness that is camp - it's everywhere, you just have to embrace it. Enjoy the freedom to be yourself, try new things and be independent. Spend hot summer afternoons being thrown across the pool or bounced around on a tube. Run through camp bundled up in boots and rain jackets during rainstorms carelessly loving that as much as the activity you're headed for. Laugh at your bunkmates jokes until you can't breathe, but never laugh at them. Get to know that dedicated counselor who you can always talk to and lean on them when need be, when you are older you will understand their worth. Have fun during flashlight time. Be a younger camper's role-model. Do activities you love day in and day out, but sometimes do things you don't love just to make a bunkmate happy. Treasure every second with your soon to be life-long friends, friends who love you for you and who will always have your back.

Be a kind, sincere and devoted summer friend. Then, keep in touch so your brotherhood is year-round. True, honest and steadfast friendships are unquestionably a blessing and impact your lives forever and for sure are found at camp. I promise you as your mom, years from now those friendships will still be as strong as when you spent 24/7 together in Rock Hill and you will be happiest while reminiscing about Boys Side at Iroquois Springs.

Please learn some new jokes for the day our paths meet again and, always have "sweet dreams and sleep well :)."

It's been an honor being your mom. Love, Yve

THE WINTER ARROW CLUE

Well, no one has sent in the correct answer yet to clue # 1, so here we go again!

In each issue of the Iroquois Springs Times we will present a new clue to the “Winter Arrow’s” location. Unlike in Color Week, the “Winter Arrow” can be ANYWHERE in Camp – indoors or outdoors, areas both in bounds and off limits. Use your creativity and imagination...you can even search without a counselor!!!

The first Girls Side and Boys Side campers to correctly name the exact location of the “Winter Arrow” will win a prize for their bunk next summer. Remember to give a detailed description of why you think the “Winter Arrow” is there when you respond.

Send your answers to: summers@iroquoissprings.com and make sure to include your first and last name in the email.

Here is Clue #1:

The season cycle marches ever onward, and it is a beautiful autumn day with Iroquois Springs all dressed up in red and gold. Look! The Lower Seniors are having a weekend reunion, and Bubba, Nicole and Kim are leading a band of merry campers on a hike around the lake. On the far side of the lake, one of the campers found a mysterious old circular sign. With faded colors and full of dents, the sign had an engraving of an old fashioned looking truck. Bubba explained how the mysterious sign was probably left over from a big construction project in the early 1950s, when the lake was more than doubled in size....

Here is Clue #2:

The adventurers took a closer look at the engraving of the truck. The side of the truck was decorated with a drawing of red circles within circles, smaller and smaller until they disappeared from sight. “Spooky”, whispered one of the girls. “Our camp has so much cool stuff and history”, chimed in another. And around the lake they go in a counterclockwise direction. The group passed a couple of post-camp workers trimming some tree branches and singing the title track from the debut Elvis Costello album. Bubba began to sing along. And then they saw the three feathers right in the middle of the lakeside trail.

FAVORITE RECIPE FROM

Kitchen Stadium

S'mores Nachos

Ingredients

- 2 sleeves of graham crackers, broken into thin squares
- 30 marshmallows
- 3 cups semisweet chocolate chips

Directions

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In an oven-proof skillet, layer graham crackers and half the marshmallows and 2 cups chocolate chips. Top with another layer of marshmallows and bake until marshmallows are soft and golden, about 10 minutes. (Broil 2 minutes if you want them more golden.)

2. Meanwhile, melt remaining 1 cup chocolate chips on low heat. Drizzle with melted chocolate and serve immediately.

TECHNOLOGY UPDATE

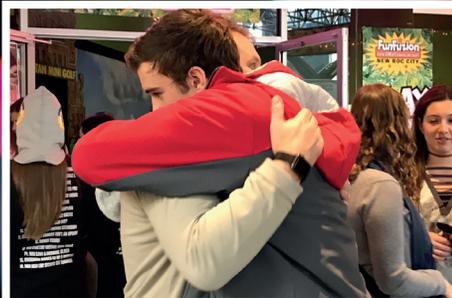

We wanted to remind you that our Parent Dashboard has many features for families needing quick and easy camp information such as the ability to:

- Print statements
- Add a new credit card
- Make a payment online
- View current, as well as past invoices
- Schedule Phone Calls (available in the spring)
- View daily pictures and videos (Camp Today)
- Email your camper
- Complete required forms

We hope this technology continues to make your experience an easy one. Should you have any questions at all, just call and ask, we are always available to help!

REUNION RE-CAP

WOW, maybe the best turnout we have ever had! The pictures here tell the true story of campers and staff reuniting and having the chance to be with their "camp family" for just a few hours during the winter. Another incredible reunion filled with happy faces and great stories. Thanks to everyone who made the journey from near and far to be with us and relive camp while we enjoyed the excitement of Fun Fuzion.

Make sure you take some time to visit the Iroquois Springs website and check out all the great pictures from the reunion and of course, send us some pics wearing your new "hoodie" that we can add to our social media feeds!

EVERYTHING CAMPER

We are pleased to let you know that we are once again teaming-up with Everything Camper as our clothing outfitter for the summer. We know you are going to love the new styles they offer and great camp gear that will be available for all of our camp families. Make sure to check-out their website at www.everythingcamper.com to get a complete packing list for the summer and book an appointment at one of their many "roadshows" where campers can try on gear, see the latest styles and place orders for all kinds of great camp items!

Everything Camper Roadshow Dates:

- January 30 & 31: New York City Showroom
- February 3 - 7: Brookville, NY
- February 19 - 21: Boca Raton, FL
- February 27 & 28: New York City Showroom

- April 9 - 10: New York City Showroom

(New York City showroom appointments are also available when Roadshow schedule concludes)

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN ROCK HILL

What a difference a year makes! This time last year, the plows on our trucks were ready and the snow never fell (no complaints here), but this winter has started off a bit differently. The snow has reached the ground on many occasions already and the full-time maintenance crew at camp has had their hands full plowing snow, working on projects and continuing to make our summer home the premier camp for our Iroquois Springs family! Of course, nothing will stop these guys, after all, a few winters back, we were in the midst of building our state of the art kitchen and doing our dining room renovation and there was 5" of ice on the floor in the new building..... even that they managed to work around.

So, what's doing in Rock Hill you ask? Besides the "small projects" such as building and replacing old beds and cubbies, making new benches and Adirondack chairs and so much more, we have 2 very exciting projects happening simultaneously. As you know from our last newsletter, the new Fitness Center is off to a great start and the entire framework of the building is up, and wow, this is going to be impressive. The stunning views of the lake through the large glass doors and overlooking the deck will be amazing and the 3 rooms that will feature spin, weights / cardio and a large studio for Tara Fitness classes is going to be the talk of the town. Our campers and staff will be more motivated than ever to build up a sweat as they work through some awesome classes this summer.

We have also found a new (more permanent) home for our increasingly popular fencing program. No longer will our instructor have to clean up Twizzler wrappers or bottles of water before class can start in the canteen, because fencing will now take up 2/3 of the space that used to house our old spin and fitness room. We have taken down the wall between those 2 spaces and have completely transformed the space. All new windows, pine paneling, lighting and more will make this renovated program space even more enticing to learn the great sport of fencing... we can't wait for you to see it!

As you can tell, we continue to beautify, restore and transform our wonderful summer home into a camp we are all proud of. The entire Iroquois Springs team, from our maintenance staff to directors are dedicated to putting forth the best effort possible to continue the great tradition of taking care of campers and staff in a way only Iroquois Springs can!

Make sure to continue to follow our social media feeds and newsletters to hear all about what's doing in 12775 throughout the winter and stay on top of new program ideas and other exciting improvements for next summer!
